A Market Devoid of Special Feature, with Firm Tone on Limited Dealings, NEW YORK, June 22 .- Money on call was easy, with no loans, closing offered at

Union Pacific, 1,600, The stock market to-day was again dull and uninteresting except for two or three stocks, and while there was great indisposi-tion to trade, the market exhibited a strong tone throughout and the most of the leading shares showed fractional advances this evening. The opening was generally steady, but Atchison was per cent. higher than last evening. There were some buying orders from London in the market, and commission houses did the remainder, and, while the "bears" were talking lower figures, there was little done against the list. New England and St. Paul were the only stocks in the regular list showing any animation, and both moved up a fraction in the first hour, while the rest were simply stagnant, although a firm tone marked the limited dealings. The trusts were specially active, however, but none of them showed any movement but Sugar, which rose over 1 per cent. during the first hour, and afterward shot up rapidly to 11814, a rise of 41s per cent. from 285sc; May, 317s. last night's figures. Lackawanna be- Coffee—Option came conspicuous for activity toward the close, but its movements were made within the narrowest limits, while Wabash preferred became strong, though it gained only a small fraction. Cotton Oil weakened toward the close, but the rest of the list were entirely devoid of feature, and the market finally closed quiet, though firm, generally at the best figures of the session. The final changes are quite irregular and $106,000. Denver & South Park certificates rose 2, to 23. The sales of bonds for the week aggregated $9,002,000 against $9,877,000 for last week. Government bonds steady. State bonds firm. Closing quotations Were:

The Ups and Downs of the Market, with the Eange in Prices of Leading Articles. CHICAGO, June 22.—Early in the session a good business was transacted in wheat, but during the most of the session interest was lacking and an unusually quiet day was passed. A prominent local trader was ostensibly buying and at the same time there was good selling by prominent commission houses. July opened at 1800 4c and rather free selling caused a gradual easing up of prices, and a decline of 34c was established. The early firmness was due to the strong tenor of cable advices. Fluctuations were slight and operators manifested but little interest in the market. The volume of speculation was quite liberal during the first two hours, but to-ward the latter part of the session trading decreased perceptibly and dullness prevailed. The weather, although cleared throughout the corn belt, was regarded as too cool to cause the crop to grow rapidly, and as cables were firmer and the shipping demand quite good, a firm feeling prevailed, but prices only fluctuated 4c. The opening was firmer and 1824c better for July, and steady on the longer futures. There was fair selling on the appreciation, and as buyers did not take hold with any vim, slight recessions were recorded, but closing sales showed a fractional gain over yesterday's last transactions. Oats were quiet and steadier and without new or interesting features. In mess pork trading was only fairly active, and prices ruled irregular within a small range. Early sales were made at 2½@5c advance, but the market soon weakened and prices receded 10@12½c. Toward the close more steadiness prevailed and prices rallied again and closed steady. A decidedly stronger feeling prevailed in lard. While the advance in prices was small, there was less pressure to sell and the demand was fairly active. Prices were advanced .0312@.05c and the market closed steady. A moderate trade was reported in short-rib sides and prices ruled rather firm at the advance gained yesterday. The leading futures ranged as

An Ignorant Enthusiast Who Thought He Was Doing Right in Murdering Cronin.

CHICAGO, June 22.-A special dispatch from Winnipeg says: "There is no doubt in my mind," said Chief McRae, this morning, "that Burke was used as a tool by the gang which planned the Cronin murder, and that he is really the one who committed the foul deed. I don't think from what I have been able to judge of him that he would be likely to have concocted the conepiracy, or have committed the act on his own behalf. He is an ignorant man, and doubtless an Irish enthusiast, who fancied that in committing such a deed he was aiding in righting the wrongs of Ireland."

"Did you caution Burke when you arrested him that anything he said would be used against him in evidence?"

"I did," said the Chief, "but the prisoner was so thoroughly scared that I believe if I had chosen to pump him, I could have got a complete confession. "I suppose he did tell you something im-portant," was suggested. "I don't wish to answer that question," said the Chief. "I will doubtless be called upon to give my evidence in court.

"Are all the necessary witnesses here?"
"Two others are coming from Chicago, as well as the indictment against Burke, and some papers. The Chicago police know exactly what is wanted, and they will take the precaution of sending all the evidence required." "Then you have no doubt about Burke's extradition!"

"None whatever." A man who claims to be an important witness in the Cronin case turned up in Chicago last night. He is Geo. E. Brooks, a news agent running on one of the rail-roads coming in at the Union Depot. Brooks, who is a small man, about twenty-three years old, is intelligent-looking and a good talker. His story is to the effect that, on the night of May 4, he was driving Lakeview with his sweetheart, and that, happening along Ashland avenue, he saw three men loading the trunk into the wagon at the Carlson cottage, and that about half an hour later he saw the same men dumping the contents of the trank into the catch-basin in which the body of Dr. Cronin was found. He also says that he saw the men tinctly; that he will be able to identify them; that his female companion also saw them, and that she, too, will be able to identify them. He is ready to produce the young woman as soon as the authorities want her. Brooks's explanation of his failure to tell his story before is that he was afraid of losing his life, as he believed the men concerned in the murder were so desperate they would kill anyone who they thought might turn up as a witness against them. He said the knowledge he possessed had so weighed on his mind that he could not keep it to himself any longer, and believing it was a duty he owed himself and the community, he had at last decided to tell all he had seen. He first stipulated that he be given protection. This was promised him. Brooks told his story to Chief Hubbard, with whom he was closeted for over two hours late last night. He described the three

The statement is published that the police have recovered the lost clew to the movements of Patrick Cooney. Cooney is supposed to be the man who passed under the name of J. B. Simonds, and who bought the furniture which was put into the flat opposite Dr. Cronin's office, and which was subsequently taken to the Carlson cottage, in which Dr. Cronin was murdered. It is

From the day Burke's name was mentioned in the case Lieutenant Elliott has been working industriously on Burke's record. "I have found that he will probably have to account for more than the crime of murdering Cronin," said the Lieu-

"Do you think he has committed murder "From what I have discovered, I should say he had; but I can give you more particulars in a few days.

This afternoon Frank Woodruft commenced, in the Circuit Court, a suit for $19,500 damages for libel against the proprietor of a dime museum who has on exhibition a wax "figger" of the horse-thief as one of the accomplices in the murder. An order was given to-day on the coroner for a certified copy of the evidence taken at the inquest on the body of Dr. Cronin. The order came from lawyer Collier soffice, and was given on receipt of a cablegram, presumably from Mr. Soames, solicitor for the London Times. The transcript will cover 1,100 type-writer pages, and will cost at least $250.

A new arrest was made this afternoon in A new arrest was made this afternoon in the Cronin case. The prisoner is Michael Walsh, a plumber, who has been working at Joliet. He knew Martin Burke, the Winnipeg suspect, in Chicago. Burke, it is reported, turned up in Joliet the day after the Cronin tragedy, and remained with Walsh, practically penniless, until June 9, when it is thought a money order came to the Winnipeg man from Chicago. The natural inference would be that Walsh's arrest was due to a desire on the part of the arrest was due to a desire on the part of the police to elicit anything of value that he may know regarding Martin Burke, the supposed Frank Williams, with whom Dr. Cronin drove off on the night of May 4, never to be seen again.

THE NATIONAL TURNFEST.

Exponents of Physical Culture Begin Their Annual Meeting in Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, O., June 22 .- For the ensuing five days this city will be the scene of the twenty-fifth annual gathering of the Turners of the United States. There is scarcely a section of country unrepresented at this great assemblage of the exponents of physical culture. The city is draped in holiday attire. Everywhere the and stripes and fatherstars land emblems are to be seen in profusion, while gaudy bunting and banners are still more numerous. On Vine street, above the canal, a graceful arch street, above the canal, a graceful arch spans that thoroughfare. Every train arriving to-day on the different roads centering here brought in delegations, the largest one being from Chicago, 900 strong, and the next, 500 from St. Louis. All the visiting Turners were marched to Central Turner Hall immediately on their arrival in the city, with the various local organizations

The event of this, the first day, was the reception at Music Hall to-night. The opening address was delivered by Col. August Tafel, president of the executive board of the fest, during which he introduced the president of the Vorort, Dr. Starkloff, of St. Louis. Then the impressive ceremony of transferring the old banner of the Vorort took place. The chorus of 500 voices rendered appropriate music, after after which Mayor Mosby delivered the address of welcome.

The programme for the various days of the fest is: Sunday and Monday, athletic exercises at the campus; Tuesday, swimming races in the Ohio river in the fore-noon, and in the afternoon a street parade to Central Turner Hall and Inwood Park; on Wednesday, an excursion up the Ohio river to Coney island.

Horrible Accident at Plymouth.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal PLYMOUTH, Ind., June 22.-George Ruggles, a fireman at the steam flouring-mill of Peter Disher, of this city, was instantly killed at 7 o'clock this morning. While adjusting the belting below the first floor of the mill, his clothing caught in the belting, which carried his body around the shaft with great rapidity, causing it to strike the floor above and mangling it in a horrible manner. His right leg was torn out at the hip, and every particle of his clothing was torn off. He was about thirty years of age and leaves a wife and one child.

A Dangerous Body of Water. LAKE HOPATCONG, N. J., June 22.—Considerable anxiety is felt by the people of Stanhope, Boynton and Dover, in this State, about the lake at the outskirts of this city. Since the heavy rains, experts have been examining the dam. Lake Hopateong is over three times as large as the Con-Hopateong is over three times as large as the Conemaugh lake, being nearly ten miles long, with an average width of three-fourths of a mile, while in some places it has been sounded to the depth of 150 feet. The water has been raised by the dam twenty-six feet above its natural level, and the lake contains over twenty billions of gallons of water. The dam is about sixty feet high, and about nine hundred feet above the tide Movement in Favor of Displaying the Stars and Stripes Upon Public Buildings.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal NEW YORK, June 22 .- The Press, to-morrow morning, will begin a crusade for the revival of the custom of hoisting the national colors on all federal buildings throughout the country every day. The general regulations of the Treasury Department require that both the national and revenue flags shall be displayed on custom-houses. With regard to the former the regulation has been totally disregarded of late years. In answer to the appeal of the Press, Col. Joel B. Erhardt, collector of this port, promises that the flag shall be displayed on Monday and each day hereafter. Secretary Windom said he was not aware of the existence of the regulation, but he will see it enforced. Postmastergeneral Wanamaker does not know of any law requiring that the flag shall be displayed over the postoffice buildings every day, but expresses himself as heartily in favor of the project, and will see what can be done. Postmaster Van Cott, of this city, will try to get permission of the deoffice every day.

The Wheat Crop in Illinois. Springfield, Ill., June 22.—The State Board of Agriculture estimates that the wheat crop will not average more than thirteen bushels per acre. making the total yield of the Illinois crop 26,669,370 bushels. The quality is fully up to the average. The exceedingly dry weather of April and the first half of May depreciated the condition of the growing crops about 10 per cent. The damage from the corn plant louse, which caused so much slarm in the southern counties, has not been serious.

THE CLAY COUNTY STRIKE.

Designing Men Who Hope for Aid. W. H. S., in Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.
It looks as if the main object had been to rip the protection theory up the back, and that help for the miners was only a sec-ondary consideration. It will be admitted that starvation, brought on by a man's own act, is not to be so deeply commiserated as that which comes without any help from him; but the time to lecture him is after the starvation has been relieved. But it will also be admitted that when a man refuses all food except that which comes from the hand of charity, he is not worth much consideration. Rev. O. C. McCulloch, of Indianapolis, recently paid a visit to this section, ostensibly to see for himself the extent of the destitution and the need for help. He left Indianapolis determined to find poverty, toil and suffering, and would not go home contented without finding it. After a brief visit, in which the major portion of the time was spent in the effort to try and find out whether the miners, when working, earned good living wages, and on that he would take testimony only on one side, he returned home. On his return to his home he was interviewed by sundry correspondents and reporters, and preached a sermon, in which he gave his version of matters here.

Mr. McCulloch is a very worthy man, whose great ambition is to build up a name for himself in the charitable line—in short, he works the charity dodge for all it is worth. His being a minister of the gospel did not prevent him from bearing false witness against his neighbors. I said in the beginning of this that he came here predetermined not to find the truth. As said, he spent most of his time in the effort to prove that the miners did not receive living wages before the strike, and refused to hear the testimony of the operators, but on his return soundly abused them and misrepresented the facts. In this he forgot that great lesson of charity which thinketh no

At Indianapolis he is the head of the organized charities of that city. He reports that destitution of the gravest kind exists here, and that help is needed to prevent wholesale starvation. There are cases of destitution here, and help is needed, but destitution here, and help is needed, but most of the cases that have been so industriously paraded before the public are such that if they were in Indianapolis and should apply at Mr. McCulloch's bureau for relief, they would be refused by him as unworthy. There are cases of greater destitution existing right under the nose of the gentleman in Indianapolis than those here. He is very select in the cases where he administers relief in his own city, but apparently is not so choice in his efforts in this neck of the woods. **

in this neck of the woods. * *
There are certain designing men here who are hoping for aid, not because they care for those who are suffering, but because they believe if the aid is given it will pro-long the strike. They hardly make a pretense of concealing their desires in this respect. I firmly believe the strike would have ended two weeks ago if it had not been for interference of some Democratic and free-trade papers. But this ought not prevent the people from giving of their vent the people from giving of their F. C. HUNTINGTON & CO., local relief committees are not the best organized, but there seems to be no effort to make any changes. Five thousand dollars, I believe, would relieve all who are actually suffering, for some weeks to come, and that amount ought to be sent to come, and that amount ought to be sent in speedily. The question is, however, how long will help be needed. If the strike continues there will soon be more destitution, and the question for the miners to consider is how long the public will contribute to support them in idleness. There is neither Republicanism nor Democracy, protection nor free trade in this, and the intelligent miners are not to be led captive by the startling headlines and mock sympathy of sensational sheets. The strike may end in sensational sheets. The strike may end in a week, or it may last all summer. If it lasts much longer several thousand dollars will be needed to prevent actual suffering.

NEW YORK EXCITED!

The Investigations of our Correspondent upon the Latest Subject of General Interest in the Metropolis. [New York Correspondence.]

"New York city has been more excited during the past month over the revelations which some of the best known scientists have made, than about anything that has occurred before in years. Among the clubs, wherever men and women congregate for social exchange of thought, in congregate for social exchange of thought, in business circles and in professional life I have found one leading topic of conversation, namely: the alarming increase of the great national disease—P are s is. A few years ago this modern malady was almost unknown; now it seems to be the most dreaded of all diseases. The best doctors are diseassing it. The Boards of Health are investigating, it and scientists generally are aroused. Insanity, pure and simple, was bad enough, but I believe P are s is is infinitely worse, both in its subtlety and far-reaching results.

"Dr. Allen McLane Hamilton, the highest authority in America on mental and nervous diseases says: "It is a disease incident to the rapid eases says: "It is a disease incident to the rapid life of this country. In many cases it is dependent upon vice and net upon actual overwork alone. Alcoholism and syphilitic disease are frequently inducing causes." Pares is shows uself in many different forms. Inability to remember and place some familiar face; a pain or tightness in the head, specially across the eyes or base of the brain; frequent watering of the eyes; absent-mindedness; desire tolsleep but impossibility to do so; a flushed face one day and a pale one the next; special redness of the face and eyes; these are a few of the many warnings of the approach of this dreaded disease.

"Like most new afflictions physicians have found difficulty in producing cures. Like most great discoveries, however, one man foresaw the evil and provided for it. That man was the late Prof. Phelps, of Dartmouth College. He knew men required something heretofore unknown to the world, and his investigations resulted in the discovery of Paine's Celery Compound. It is admitted by the best medical talent of this city that this Compound is the only discovery capable of checking Pares is, or restoring the brain, and its popularity in New York is phynomenal. Many Experiences at Last Brought to This Realization.

Eleven Years of Trouble Ended, and the Heavy Burden of Watching and Waiting Dispelled.

Weary with waiting! How few there are that have not experienced this unhappy feature of human life in some form or another. Some watch and wait for the return of a lost friend or fortune.
